THE 13th ASIAN DERMATOLOGICAL CONGRESS
(13th ADC 2024)

First Congress Announcement

Medical Technology Letter [2023] No. 622

The 13th Asian Dermatology Congress (13th ADC 2024), hosted by the Asian Dermatology Association, the Chinese Medical Association, the Chinese Society of Dermatology and Venereology of Chinese Medical Association, and Huashan Hospital affiliated to Fudan University, will be held on May 9-11, 2024 in Shanghai, China.

The Asian Dermatology Congress is a quadrennial congress of Asian dermatology that draws a wide range of participating countries and extensive representatives in the field of dermatology in Asia. Thousands of delegates from Asia, Europe and the United States have participated in the previous congresses. The presentations and discussion forums represent a diversity of specialties and disciplines, which serves as a dynamic platform to exchange information on latest advances in the field of dermatology from Asian.

"Dermatology transcends national boundaries". This is always a reminder to our clinicians and researchers to work constantly and jointly for the well-being of all mankind. The congress committee will achieve this goal by keeping the discussion platforms and information exchange channels open and diverse in every aspect, from the selection of speakers, session topics, to meeting chairpersons.

The theme of the conference is "Science and Care". The content will cover all areas of dermatology - from bench to bedside, including immune skin diseases, infections, cosmetic and disfiguring skin diseases, skin tumors, pigmentary disorders, hair and nail diseases, pediatric dermatology and geriatric dermatology. We are committed to shed light on future research in both diagnosis and clinical treatments of skin diseases. In addition to great academic content, you are invited to a variety of activities to explore this richly diverse and unique city of China. We hope you will have an excellent experience in Shanghai during the congress.
